50 Companies Made Party Defendants

PATENTS QUESTIONED

Case Described As Greatest Made By U. S.

WASHINGTON, June 25.—Federal government today filed suit in federal court in Chicago against 50 of the greatest oil refining companies charging a general conspiracy to violate the Sherman anti-trust laws.

The suit was filed by Attorney General Stone, who announced the suits here to prevent and restrain the companies from what the government charged was "combination and conspiracy in restraint of trade and commerce" among the several states and with foreign nations in gasoline, kerosene and other hydrocarbon derivatives.

The suit was described as the department of justice as the greatest attack ever made by the federal government on trusts and monopolies.

In bringing suit, Attorney General Stone, charging that all of these great companies have combined to control the production of gasoline by a pooling of asserted patent rights in violation of the Sherman anti-trust act, names as the primary defendants in the conspiracy to organize and maintain the unlawful combination the Standard Oil Company (Turn to Page 2, Column 1).

Orange Big 5 Delegates Plan Canal Trip

The Orange delegation from the Chamber of Commerce which will attend the Sabine district meet here Wednesday for the night of Thursday, July 10, will probably come on a special boat, according to word received by Manager A. L. Burge of the local chamber from Mayor White of Orange.

Mayor White is Orange's "Big Five" commissioner and is enthusiastic as to the possibilities of the Sabine district reciprocity league now being drawn up. That large delegations from the chambers of Beaumont, Nederland and Port Neches will also be present at the Port Arthur meet, is the belief of officials here.

The meeting here will probably be held on the First Methodist church. South, port garden, Burge states. The C-C directorate will arrange details of the entertainment at its next meeting, according to the manager.

Ammonia Coils For Abattoir Ordered

The city commission this morning ordered that William Macfield be hired to install ammonia coils at the city abattoir for $100.

"Isn't that pretty high?" asked Commissioner Wiley.

"No sir, that's cheaper than the city could do it," answered City Engineer Herpin.

OBJECTION RAISED TO NON-TAX PAYMENT

Some negro truck drivers pay the state chauffeur's license tax. Others don't.

Those who don't are decidedly in the majority, according to a delegation of two appearing before the city commission this morning. The claim was made that six truck drivers here are paying the tax, while 32 do not.

"We want to turn 'em in and make 'em pay," the protesting truck drivers were referred to county officials at Beaumont.

FIST FIGHTS FOLLOW KLAN DENUNCIATION

—And Then Prisoner Abandoned All Hope

THAT HOPE continues to spring eternal in human breasts and the old adage runs true to form is shown in the following dialogue in police court this morning:

Judge Dyess, to prisoner: "This is the first time you've ever been before me on a drunk charge and I sincerely hope it will be your last."

Prisoner: "Judge, you and I hope the same thing, except I hope it stronger than you could possibly hope so."

Judge: "Well, I hope we can get our heads together on the matter. Ten dollars and costs."

ONE APPLICANT FOR CITY CLERK

"I Have No Plans To Announce"—Miles

"The city commission has allowed personal prejudice to mix with the city government," F. H. Miles, deposed city clerk, said today.

Miles was declared by council Monday, effective July 1, a formal letter notifying him of such action declaring that his services for two months past had been unsatisfactory and out to the best interests of the administration. Miles has been city clerk for six years, his work in that capacity recently being praised by Hall & Richardson, certified public accountants, in report on the audit of the city's finance condition.

Report Critiques Transfer

Hall & Richardson's audit report criticized the transfer by council of the confidential fund and excess expenditures over the amount of the budget voted at the budget session a year ago, though efforts were made according to reports, by city officials to have such criticisms stricken from the report.

Whether Miles would demand a public hearing was in doubt today.

"The only statement I care to make now is that I am very sorry the city commission has allowed prejudice and personal prejudice to mix with city government," Miles said this morning.

Hamilton Asks For Job

He declined to say anything concerning his future plans or whether he intends to fight out his civil appeal, with the city commission in a public hearing.

Jesse C. Hamilton, assistant city clerk, has informally applied for the position of city clerk. It was said this morning.

Bus Line Directors Hold Annual Meeting

Annual meeting of the stockholders and directors of the Port Arthur bus line was held this afternoon at 2:30 o'clock in the Chamber of Commerce and Shipping when routine business and affairs of the bus line were taken up. Dick Lyles, president of the association, said.

The city lines over Tenth, Thirteenth and Eight streets have been losing a little money, mainly over depreciation, but it is not contemplated to add any more vehicles or other equipment, Lyles said.

Lions Planing Mill Guests This Week

The Lions Club will have luncheon at the Port Arthur Planning Mill show rooms on Fifth street Friday at noon. The club will be guests of Henry Crawford, and after a quick lunch, the afternoon will be conducted by Crawford on an inspection tour of the mill. The luncheon will be held at the regular hour, 12:15 p. m.

JUNE BUILDING IS GREATER THAN MAY

That this month's building permits have already exceeded the total amount issued for May is indicated by records kept by Building Inspector Busby at the city hall.

For the first three days of this week, permits show a total of $8,550. With three more days of the week remaining it is expected this amount will be doubled.

Pleads Guilty When Evidence Produced

Sixteen quarts of dry, dry gun and Mexican apparel perched in a trunk, pushed back in the house of a defendant, were the evidence produced in the case against Orlena Syres, negro, on a whiskey charge.

The officers told the federal commissioner Orlena came to the door, recognized them, looked at the trunk and pushed back in the house. Officers said they smelled whiskey fumes on a rug.

Commissioner Pool examined the broken bottle and told Syres she would be held for the grand jury on bond of $25.

Jitney Law, Bond Issue Set For Tomorrow

Two Port Arthur cases will come up for consideration Thursday morning in the ninth court of civil appeals. The question of whether jitney buses can operate in the city is the issue in the case of the city of Port Arthur vs. J. P. Young, Justice O'Brien decided the buses could operate some time ago.

The other case is that of H. M. Harris, attorney, vs. the city of Port Arthur, a million dollar bond issue. In neither case will the merits be considered. The city is seeking to restrain the jitney buses from operating until the case suit be decided and Harris is attempting to restrain the city from disposing of its bonds until the case can be tried.

The officers told the federal commissioner Orlena came to the door, recognized them, looked at the trunk and pushed back in the house. Officers said they smelled whiskey fumes on a rug.

COLORADO FLAG TORN TO PIECES

Fist Fights Follow Speech By Underwood's Pledger

POLICE INTERVENE

Missouri Delegation Center Of Near Riot Also

By David Press.

MADISON SQUARE GARDEN, NEW YORK, June 25.—Pandemonium broke out in Madison Square Garden this afternoon at the first direct mention of the Ku Klux Klan in a former Johnson of Alabama, placing Senator "Boss" Underwood's name before the convention, denounced the "hooded and secret organization known as the Ku Klux Klan," with a crashing cheer, delegates arose to their chairs, shouted, threw their hats in the air and finally started a pandemonium.

Fist Fights Break Out

Fights broke out in the Missouri and Colorado delegations, requiring policemen to intervene.

The standard bearer in the Missouri delegation started off to follow in the parade of delegations but was halted by a fellow delegate with the aid of two women.

Music Soothes Fighters

The Colorado fight ended in a fist fight. Bitter feelings developed as several members fought for and against adding the Colorado banner to the parade.

The standard was wrecked in the riot.

The worst of the outcries ended when the band struck up America and men and women paraded with American flags.

M'ADOO FORCES GAIN STRENGTH

Railston, Smith Backers Claim Added Votes

NEW YORK, June 25.—Inroads were claimed to have been made by McAdoo leaders today into the "eastern vote" which has been staked for Governor Al Smith.

In the last 36 hours McAdoo has a net gain of 50 delegates, those in a position to speak for him around his headquarters maintain.

Indiana became so enthusiastic over the chances of Senator Railston emerging as the eventual choice of the democratic convention for president that the delegation is considering urging the senator to come to New York.

Senator Railston is now on his farm near Lebanon, Indiana. He has declared that he would not raise a hand in an effort to obtain the nomination.

Chances of Governor Alfred E. Smith to capture the nomination appeared to be the brightest yet, his managers claim.

Smith is said to have been informed by such leaders as Tom Taggart, George Brennan and Ed Moore that in the early bidding for candidates he shows sufficient strength to warrant the belief that he can win, they will get behind him.

MAE SAVOY DEAD

Commissioners Grant Red Cross Increase

Request that county commissioners raise the monthly appropriation to the Port Arthur Red Cross chapter from $200 to $300 monthly until December 1, filed by officials in the local organization, is granted, it was learned here today.

Work of the Red Cross nurses and social service workers with the Port Arthur chapter extends to Sabine, Seaboard, Port Neches and Nederland, necessitating considerable expense to look after the health and social problems outside the city, it was pointed out by chapter officials here in making the request for additional funds from the county.

Commissioner Vaughan, of Sabine, stressed the importance of the Red Cross work in this section of Jefferson county, and urged upon the commission the granting of the request of a monthly appropriation of $300 until after the annual roll call next November. The money received from the county is applied to the salaries and expenses of those engaged in carrying on the chapter's work in this section of Jefferson county, officials at the Red Cross told Fifth street and Dallas avenue, said today.

TWO ITALIANS HERE ORDERED DEPORTED

Two stowaways, giving the names of Carlo Peluso and Gennaro Sorrenti, both Italians, were ordered deported by a special board of inquiry today, immigration officials here said. The men were taken off the tanker W. F. Elliott when the vessel arrived in Port Arthur Tuesday, according to immigration records.

From Port Arthur the two Italians will go to New York on the vessel which brought them to the United States from Italy and will probably be placed on Ellis Island to await a ship bound for Italy.

BIKE JOYRIDERS IS NEW EPIDEMIC HERE

That Port Arthur's joyriders do not confine their activities to high-powered automobiles but feel the urge to climb on bicycles and breeze through the avenues, is shown by police records.

The past month has found numerous complaints from bicycle owners who call the station and report their vehicles stolen. Officers make a search and usually find the bicycles deserted in some part of the city.

"They either want to joyride or are tired and hop on a bicycle, ride it to where they want to go and desert it," is Sergeant Busby's idea.

TENTH STREET ORDERED OPENED ACROSS TRACKS

Tenth street was ordered opened across the interurban track to Model addition by the city commission this morning pending the outcome of the city bond issue. The street will be merely graded now, and finished off with shell later.

Fifth, Sixth and Seventh streets will be opened later, it was said. Sixteenth street is now being opened by Travis Lambert, real estate man, and being shelled.

OIL IS CROWDED OFF DEMO BOARD

Factional Lineups Take the Center of Stage

'ANTI' PLANK DEMANDED

'Boss' Brennan Threatens To Force Showdown

MADISON SQUARE GARDEN, NEW YORK, June 25.—William Gibbs McAdoo, foremost of the leading candidates for the democratic presidential nomination, was placed in nomination this afternoon at 7:35 o'clock. A tremendous ovation followed as delegates rose shouting to parade.

Standards in the parade were Hawaii, California, Kentucky, Texas, Pennsylvania, Philippines, Washington, Idaho, District of Columbia, Oregon, Canal Zone, Montana, Utah, North Dakota, Oklahoma, New Mexico, Iowa, Wyoming, North Carolina, South Carolina, Arizona, Tennessee, Florida, Illinois, South Dakota, Connecticut and Nevada.

After forty minutes the demonstration was still in progress.

Here's Outlook On Demo Platform

Members of the platform committee after sounding out the sentiment of delegates summed up the prospects on important planks to the United Press as follows:

Klan: A strong diversion of opinion with anti-klan representatives of the belief that the plank will be denounced by name and the moderate faction confident that a milder denunciation of secret orders will be adopted. Guarantee of political and religious freedom under the constitution will be reaffirmed unanimously.

Prohibition: Plank as drawn now drafting committee will call for complete enforcement of law and have no wet suit (wet suit will hold a secret caucus today to plan a fight on the floor for substitution of a wet plank. They intend to ignore the committee).

Foreign Policies: A tilt in prospect over pledging American adherence to the league with the democratic faction apparently assured of success for their plan of endorsing the league without American participation. A pledge for American entrance into the world court of justice. A denunciation of the Hughes policy toward Turkey which will charge that the republican program permitted mistreatment of Armenia and was based on encouraging Turkish favor for American oil interests.

TEXAS DELEGATES GET PLENTY OF SUNSHINE

A lady from the Texas delegation went a pretty good way to ask if the flag on the ceiling could not be pulled again to shade the Texas section.

"Oh, don't worry," the platform sergeant said. "The sun will pass you by pretty soon."

"I ain't worried," the girl said. "I'm just a lady what 's told to do. Takes more'n a little sun and heat to worry me." And that ended that discussion.

Governor Pat Neff of Texas was one of the first to appear on the platform today. He refused to join the Texas delegation because he would not pledge himself to vote for McAdoo.

M'NEAL TO GET HEARING SOON

Case Continued 7 Different Times

BEAUMONT, Texas, June 25.—The motion for a new trial in the case of George W. McNeal, Port Neches man given a death sentence on a criminal assault charge, will be heard next Monday morning. The case has been continued on seven different occasions, due to the inability of either the state or defense to have their witnesses in court, or other business was so pressing that the McNeal case had to be postponed.

HILLY COUNTRY CALLS TOURIST

Port Arthurians Vacation In Different Scenery

"Sea folk are sick for the sea, and hill people long for the hill," goes the poem, but Port Arthurians, living by the sea, apparently are sick of the sea, and go to the hills for their summer vacation.

This is the word coming from ticket agents for railroads here, and carmen of the routes taken by men and women setting out to play grounds for their playtime.

Over the Southern Pacific lines Port Arthurians are crying, "Westward, ho!" and are off to the Rocky mountains, and the Kansas City Southern officials declare the traffic northward to the Ozarks in Arkansas and Missouri this summer is heavy out of Port Arthur.

Take in the Woods

Scattering instances of vacationing Port Arthurians going east to New York and the Maine Woods, or to the "land of the sky," in the Blue Ridge mountains of Virginia and North Carolina also are cited by the railroad men, but these are exceptions, rather than the rule, which holds that the Rockies and the Ozarks are Port Arthur folk's playgrounds this summer.

Moreover, too, are for the most part, getting away from the seaside. They are going in every direction—north, east, west, even south, to McFadden's beach and the jetty—and the sea and tours include summer resorts camping out anywhere woods are found, both near and far from Port Arthur, or the "old home town," where homes of friends and relatives offer hospitality for the summer vacation.

Will Colorless Candidate Be Nominated By Democrats?

Ralston Too Old To Become Standard Bearer of Party, Says Washington Senator At Pow-Wow

BY C. C. DILL
U. S. Senator from Washington (Written for the United Press.)

UNITED PRESS HEADQUARTERS, WASHINGTON, June 25.—Will 1,100 fighting delegates fight and fight, only to nominate a colorless candidate on a platform that straddles the vital issues?

That is the question in the minds of observers and listeners at this convention as the delegates assemble and caucus.

McAdoo is a fighter at all times, on all subjects and tells everybody so. Smith is a striking character of positive convictions, which he states in militant words.

Specific Charges Here
If precedents of other democratic conventions were to be relied upon, one of these two leaders would be nominated. Wilson beat Clark at Baltimore in 1912; Cox beat McAdoo in 1920. But in neither convention were there such specific charges against either candidate as here.

The opponents of McAdoo charge that being Denney's lawyer, securing tax refunds for big corporations from officials in the treasury department, who had been subordinates and appointees, helping move out of his shipping board troubles and having an alleged alliance with the Klan, destroy all chances for his election. Opponents to Smith say his religious connections, his reputation as a wet, his lifelong identification with Tammany and the claim that Wall Street wants him makes his election equally impossible and declare that his nomination will mean the party would be committing "heart" in the west.

Wood, Lowden Tarrad
The republican convention at Chicago, 1924, furnished a better precedent. There both Wood and Lowden were barred with money. They were charmed with spending millions in buying delegates. The result, was Warren G. Harding, a colorless candidate.

If the Smith and McAdoo followers kill off one another until neither can win, to whom will the delegates turn? Of course, there is Bryan. He is not merely a fighting leader. His repeated proposal of certain platform planks at all democratic conventions for a generation has made him rather a political institution. Most of the delegates refuse to discuss seriously the possibility of his candidacy. Undervalued is the business man in politics and could not furnish thrills for a democratic campaign if he tried. The most stable campaign being made these opening days for any dark horse by the conservative and big business interests is being made for John W. Davis. His boosters point out that he has served in congress, as collector general, ambassador to England and is a "great lawyer in New York." That's his weakness. It may be added—J. Pierpont Morgan's lawyer and he has his all stockings on Fifth avenue. That is as fine a red flag to unfurl across the west as La Follette can ask for. But even without that handicap Davis is too dignified and too deeply steeped in the law to lead a fighting campaign.

Ralston Too Colorless
Ralston is a fine old 1. class gentleman and if nominated his opponents will have great difficulty in finding anything harmful to him. But he is too colorless. Copeland is new to the public. He might prove more nearly a progressive leader than any other of the dark horses. His record in the senate is progressive but he lacks the "verve" which the millions of disaffected, independent voters are ready to follow.

Glass, Robinson, Cummings, and Governor Bryan are a dozen others would fall to meet the needs of the hour if the democratic ticket is to hold the progressive democrats in line as against La Follette, not because they are too progressive but because they cannot appeal to the parochialism of the masses.

There is still one hope for a fighting candidate even if McAdoo and Smith do destroy one another, namely some unknown, unheralded man, who with eloquence, personality and the power to appeal to the imagination of the plain people may strike across the political stage and repeat the precedent of Bryan in 1900. That night is dark indeed but there may be such a star of hope, possibly.

ANNOUNCEMENT---

The State Board of Medical Examiners, Co-operating With the State Medical Association of Texas, Announce the Beginning of a Campaign Of Public Education on Medical Subjects.

The medical profession has long recognized its obligation to the public in respect to the spreading of a more general knowledge of interesting and vital facts concerning public health.

There are many important facts relating to the cause, prevention and cure of disease that the public should know and does not know. It is felt that the public mind has been confused and misled by the numerous fads in medicine, and that it is not realized that there is a vast difference between theory and scientific fact.

In order to present positively known facts and to clarify the atmosphere as to theory, thus providing you with the means to protect the health of yourself and your loved ones, the legalized medical profession of Texas entering upon this campaign.

Within the next few days addresses of extreme interest will be made from as many platforms as possible, by numerous well-known physicians, and covering a variety of public health subjects in a most illuminating manner. These speakers are thoroughly informed and capable of presenting their subjects in a manner that will be both interesting and entertaining. There will be no paid propagandists.

The practice of medicine, as such, is a matter of prime importance, in that upon it rests the foundation of public health. It is clear that the first efforts in the prevention of the spread of disease depends upon practicing physicians. If the existence of contagion or infection is not discovered early by competent diagnosticians, the opportunity for immediate and effective prevention is lost. A physician operating solely upon some theory of the cause of disease, disregarding all the known facts of medicine and allied sciences, is jeopardizing the lives of the public.

The contention is for an educated, honest medical profession and a public informed on the facts of medicine, that it may protect its health and its life.

The Texas State Board of Medical Examiners and the Texas State Medical Association

NOTE—Dr. Thomas G. Dorbandt of San Antonio will speak at the First M. E. Church, South on Thursday evening at 7:30 o'clock on this extremely interesting subject. You will consider it an hour well spent to attend this lecture. Be there, for the sake of your own health, and that of your family.

PORT NECHES TO GET NAT TANK

City to Pump Water into Old Reservoir

Port Neches children will soon go swimming in Port Arthur city water, according to an agreement with the city commission and Port Neches delegation this morning. Present before the commission were Rev. W. E. Hester, A. L. Brooks and J. Leary, all of Port Neches.

The plan is to pump Port Neches water No. 1 on the park, at Port Neches several times a week to keep an old sand-bottom settlement tank filled for the children to swim in. A nominal charge would be made by H. H. Taylor, who is in charge of the tank. Mayor Logan said Dr. Port Neches city health officer would be asked immediately to get a ruling on the proposal from the state health department. The Port Neches tank is 60 feet by 100 feet, and not more than six feet deep.

Freddie Board Walk

In addition, the commission promised the Port Neches delegation a walk would be built on the south side of the city park, which is owned by Port Arthur, for the use of pedestrians. The walk would be across the street from the park.

"Hundreds of Port Arthur people are coming up and using the park all the time, from a few hours to a few days," Brooks said.

ance on the stage was a signal for repeated cheering.

Loveless and feminism showing the happiness and sorrows of two beautiful women could have found no better exponents than Misses Frances Carter and Marie McLusker in lead roles. George Weddell as the Dragon drew a heavy hand and his acting was deserving of the demonstration.

Dorothy Fittner, in the "Dance of the Diamonds," eclipsed her stellar presentation of the night before and was the signal for a wave of cheering as she appeared. "Wee Wee" Griffin, again a miniature bundle of charm in her distinctive costume, was well received.

The Apollo quartet in the soldier dress of "Just Break the News to Mother" drew tears. Other individual stars who won their way again with the audience were little Miss Martha Ferguson who, as the "dauntless pickaninny" who ever wore pigtail, shook mean feet to the audience's delight; Al Dunning as a big dancer.

The hundreds of dancing girls and boys, queens and the like whirled through drill scenes and dance acts to perfection.

"Still going good and getting better every night," was the verdict of those who saw the initial performance.

On Road to Boneyard

"I have just finished a treatment of your wonderful remedy and can say it has done wonders for me already. For the past five years I have been unable to eat any but the lightest food and that but sparingly, as any food caused me to bloat with gas. I was reduced to a skeleton of ninety pounds, and was on the road to the boneyard. A friend in Birmingham sent me a bottle of Dr. Williams' Wonderful Remedy, which I took, and I am sure it will entirely cure me of my trouble, judging from what it brought from me and the way I feel." It is a simple, harmless preparation that removes the catarrhal mucus from the intestinal tract and allays the inflammation which causes practically all stomach, liver and intestinal ailments, including appendicitis. drafting committee of the resolutions committee, meantime is bent upon making the league of nations the compromise dominant issue. He is prepared to make a vigorous fight on the floor to this end.

Walsh finished his address at 12:30 and immediately the delegates leaped to their feet and for the second time since he took the platform, started a parade of standards around the hall.

While the band played "In the Good Old Summertime," Walsh conferred with leaders on the platform regarding the procedure.

After the demonstration had stretched into 15 minutes, Walsh pounded for order, breaking the gavel and making the second one to collapse under the strain.

The committee on rules reported: That the rules of the last convention, including the two-thirds nominating rule, shall apply to this convention.

That delegates shall not occupy the floor for more than thirty minutes in debate unless by unanimous consent of the convention. The report recommending the following order of business:

- 1—Report of committee on credentials;
- 2—Report of committee on permanent organizations;
- 3—Ratification of members of democratic national committee;
- 4—Presentation of candidates for president;
- 5—Report of committee on platform;
- 6—Selection of a candidate for president;
- 7—Presentation and selection of a candidate for vice president.

It carried without a dissenting vote and thus the final squelching of the threatened movement to abolish the two-thirds rule was effected.

McAdoo, Underwood And Robinson's Names Before Convention

"The next order of business," Walsh then shouted, "is the nomination of candidates for the office of president of the United States."

Fordney Johnston of Alabama placed the name of Senator Oscar Underwood before the delegates.

Governor Brough of Arkansas nominated Senator Robinson of that state.

On the calling of California, Senator Philan mounted the platform and nominated William G. McAdoo at 3:54 p. m. Many delegates rose in their chairs, holding a demonstration amid cheering and waving California flags. The galleries participated with applause, shouting, ringing of cowbells and blowing of whistles. The demonstration lasted several minutes.

Shark Meat Tastes Good When You're Hungry Says Prince

Blown around 20 days in the Gulf of Mexico with rations for only 10 days, C. J. Prince, Port Arthurian, and a companion made out for the older 10 days on sharks, according to letters received here by friends.

In a 48-foot, two-masted schooner, Prince set out for Biloxi, Mississippi, via the Mississippi river passes, for Port Arthur last month. Contrary winds sent the little craft in the opposite direction, and with provisions gone, and hope flickering, Prince finally brought up at Mobile Bay.

"Sharks were all the fish that bit, and when a fellow's hungry he won't balk at shark meat," Prince wrote friends in Port Arthur, and added he probably will not be back home until next month when a ship bound out of Mobile for Port Arthur will take his schooner in tow.

BROTHERHOOD OFFICIAL GIVES TANLAC CREDIT FOR RESTORING HEALTH

Oldest Member of B. E. T. South of Ohio Keeps Medicine In His Family Medicine Chest.

E. Walter Tripp, 324 Healey Bldg., Atlanta, Ga., legislative representative Brotherhood Railway Trainmen, and oldest member of the Brotherhood south of the Ohio River, lends his name to further the cause of Tanlac, the medicine that has proved of such great benefit to him.

Mr. Tripp was formerly freight and passenger conductor on the Seaboard, W. & A. Southern and A. & W. P. He numbers his railroad friends by the score and is also a popular fraternal order man. Mr. Tripp has also served as assistant collector internal revenue, Northern district of Georgia, and is now a publisher and editor.

"I have not been without Tanlac in my medicine chest in 8 years," said Mr. Tripp. "but I have had two experiences with it that stand out especially in my history. One when I came in from my run with my stomach all upset and my digestion just about wrecked. Tanlac proved effective and I began to swear by it. Again following an accident that kept me in bed for a long time and pulled me down to a mere shadow of myself, I turned to Tanlac and it built my weight right up and gave me back all the energy and strength I ever had."

"Not only has Tanlac helped me,

Odds and Ends and Comments on Our Morning Mail

HOW WILL MILLIONS WEARING NO PARTY COLLARS VOTE IN ELECTION?

Taxpayers, you should realize that every one is severely concerned about our tremendous national debt. And yet, while the national debt averages about $200 for every American man, woman and child, the average debt of cities of 2500 population or over is more than $70 for every resident. Norfolk, Va., has the highest—$258.62 per capita.

Municipalities' total debt already is more than a third as big as the national debt.

What's more alarming is that city debts are increasing a billion dollars a year, while the national debt is going down that much and more—a, for four years.

On top of all this burden, taxpayers have enormous state debts and county debts. All of which are mounting steadily. Now debt means that the future is being mortgaged. It can be mortgaged just as far as the point which taxpayers will be unable to pay interest (taxes) on the debt.

Then will come a day of reckoning, fearful for the politicians.

Spending by states, counties and municipalities for improvements, conduct of government, and for revenue old obligations as they fall due and can't be paid off.

Where should economy begin? It depends on the particular community involved, so two of which have exactly the same situation to face.

One obvious common solution is to pave roads for permanence instead of permitting their construction to be so rotten that it goes to pieces and has to be patched in a matter of months.

Another suggestion is to get away from the monumental type of public buildings—a notion inherited from the ancient Greeks and Romans. These, for instance, put up a post office that looks like the Tower of Babel—and inside you'll find about two windows selling stamps while everyone stands waiting in line.

A frame building with a dozen stamp windows would be more sensible and economical than display to gratify the vanity of a tax-paying generation that can't afford it.

Do you play the market? In one month nearly 14 million shares of stocks change hands on the New York Stock Exchange. A big figure, yes. But it's over 11 million shares less than in the same month, May, of last year—and nearly 10 million shares less than in May, 1922. The public is in a cautious mood, taking few chances. That's a healthy condition, will help restore business to normal. When money doesn't flow into speculation, it goes flow into sure things—production.

Soon you'll be able to fly by muscle power, no motor required. No pretentious Whitehead, the German engineer. He doesn't expect the flying machine to be a glider limited in range. Rather, he thinks it will be propelled like a bicycle.

Such a machine is possible. But it wouldn't sell widely in our country. People are too lazy and too thrifty with their time. Reflect on how quickly they turned from the man-propelled bicycle to motor-propelled auto.

Lit up by moonbeams, a Chinese man draws his $125 savings from the bank, reasons himself on a corner and begins handing out $1 apiece to all comers. He gets rid of $90 when they take him away in the patrol wagon.

One good feature of liquor was that it made people generous and spread good-fellowship. No substitute has been found. Otherwise, bootleggers might not be so busy.

Forty cents a day was considered satisfactory pay for a long day's work when I was a young fellow, remembers Warner Bailey of Concord, N. H. He's an old-timer, painted the first printing machine made by his invention, Elias Howe. Having mastered the printer's trade, Bailey worked for 35 cents a day.

However—

He paid only 50 cents a month for board.

The more we make, the more we have to pay. Our gain comes in a steadily advancing standard of living. We buy and use 1000 times as many things as when Bailey was young.

If we all chipped in $200 apiece we could pay off the entire national debt. Every one hasn't the $200, however. So the debt remains and the public, by taxes, pays interest on the debt the same if the debt money were a bank loan.

National debt now is around $1,344 million dollars, after deducting cash in the treasury. The total has been reduced over 4000 million dollars since its peak in 1919. Salvaged war materials account for considerable of the cut. From now on, the debt probably will drop less slowly. The public will have less money for taxes.

America is selling to foreign countries at the rate of $20 million dollars a year more than it's buying from them. A nice balance—if we ever get the money. Easiest thing in the world is to sell to a deadbeat. One imports his park abroad are averaging $332 for every $370 we export to our foreign trade customers.

Our export customers, in order of importance, are United Kingdom, Canada, Germany, Japan, France, Cuba, Italy, Australia, China, Mexico.

For the first time in 36 years the National Convention of the Democratic party is being held on Manhattan Island this year. Madison Square Garden has been enlarged to seat about eighteen thousand persons. There are a thousand and ninety-eight delegates, the same number of alternates, a thousand newspaper writers and photographers and fifteen thousand convention employees and visitors.

There are thirty dark horses in the democratic stables. McAdoo has the greatest number of instructed votes, 294; Governor Alfred E. Smith is second with 123; McAdoo leaders claim 600 votes on the first ballot and the Smith leaders 400 votes. There are a number of split delegations and McAdoo claims all.

No matter who is nominated Robert M. LaFollette will be the man of the hour, that is, if he takes the plunge on July 4 and accepts the presidential nomination of the convention of the progressive party. According to the LaFollette leaders there are 34 powerful organizations in America ready to follow the flag of the Wisconsin senator.

If by running LaFollette should throw the election into the house there is going to be a pretty kettle of fish on exhibition next winter in the city of Washington. There are millions of American voters who do not wear party collars. Now to which camp will they drift the coming November election day?

For which presidential candidate will they plump their ballots? Arthur Brisbane predicts the nomination of McAdoo by the democrats. If this happens and LaFollette becomes the head of the third party movement where will the northwestern states land next November?

LaFollette is the idol of the railway brotherhoods. He is the idol of the American Federation of Labor. Will the organized workers of America break away from the Republican and democratic parties and dance a set with the Wisconsin senator as their choice for president of the United States?

THIRTEEN WET STATES

Captain W. N. Stayton of New York is the founder and organizer of the association against the prohibition amendment. Captain Stayton says there are thirteen states whose voters are opposed to the Volstead act. These states are New York, New Jersey, Connecticut, Rhode Island, Massachusetts, Ohio, Illinois, Missouri, Maryland, California, Michigan, Montana and Washington.

Thirteen is an unlucky number. There are thirty-five states where the people are not opposed to the Volstead act, or if they are opposed to it, they are not whimpering. Now what is the gallant captain going to do about it?

Prohibition is in the constitution. The 15th amendment makes it a crime to manufacture or import or sell intoxicants. The amendment was ratified by the legislature of 40 states.

There is a way to get it out of the constitution. Submit a repeal amendment and then let the legislatures of the required number of states ratify the appeal.

It would take a thousand years for the repealers to win a victory. Prohibition is here and it is here to stay. Why worry about it? Why quarrel about it? The saloon is a dead issue.

STEEL

According to trade bulletins the June steel output is below the May rate. Production is now placed at the twenty-five million ton rate against a mill capacity of fifty-four million. Buying is away below capacity but the bulletin contains the gratifying information that inquiries are increasing and bookings are probably a trifle larger. Mid-summer is approaching and steel business neither thrives or prospers in mid-summer. Steel king Gary is very optimistic. He sees a great boom for steel in the near future.

JAPAN

Before the coming of the world war Japan's electrical orders went to Germany. Now eighty per cent of the orders come to the United States. Japan has only taken the electrification of six thousand miles of state owned railways, for which the government will spend about fifty million dollars a year until this work is completed of which sum about three million dollars a year will go for electrical equipment incident to the task.

Germans are in the field for the business. Americans control eighty per cent of it. Our national lawmakers slap Japan in the face when the Japanese government asks that a treaty should be made for the restriction of immigration instead of a prohibitive exclusion act.

Japanese statesmen did not object to the exclusion of Japs but they did object to the crude way in which the senators and representatives carried out their exclusion program. A politician is a rotten business man when it comes to the pockets of other people.

Quillen's Paragraphs

When a man hates to work and it bores him to loaf, what's the answer? The man who would lead must first learn to follow—through. Ask any golfer.

Give Cain credit for one thing, anyhow. He produced the world's first front-page story.

The woman who marries for a home is seldom capable of making one.

An adequate technical criticism of the average novel of today: "It has nice covers."

"Break All Ten Commandments in One Night" is a headline that we are momentarily expecting to read.

Some people seem so perfectly versed in table manners as to make us wonder whether they need to be waiters.

Cast your paragraphs upon the waters and they shall return to you after many days, credited to somebody else.

A headline says: "Speeding Tourist Crashes Through Billboard." His only chance to get a glimpse of the scenery.

Speaking of telephones, as nobody was, here's something else to wonder about: "Why are the wrong numbers never busy?"

You can estimate the rents charged in the neighborhood by the number of porches that contain golf bags.

If taxicabs get much thicker each man will have to spend his life on the side of the street that he happened to be born on.

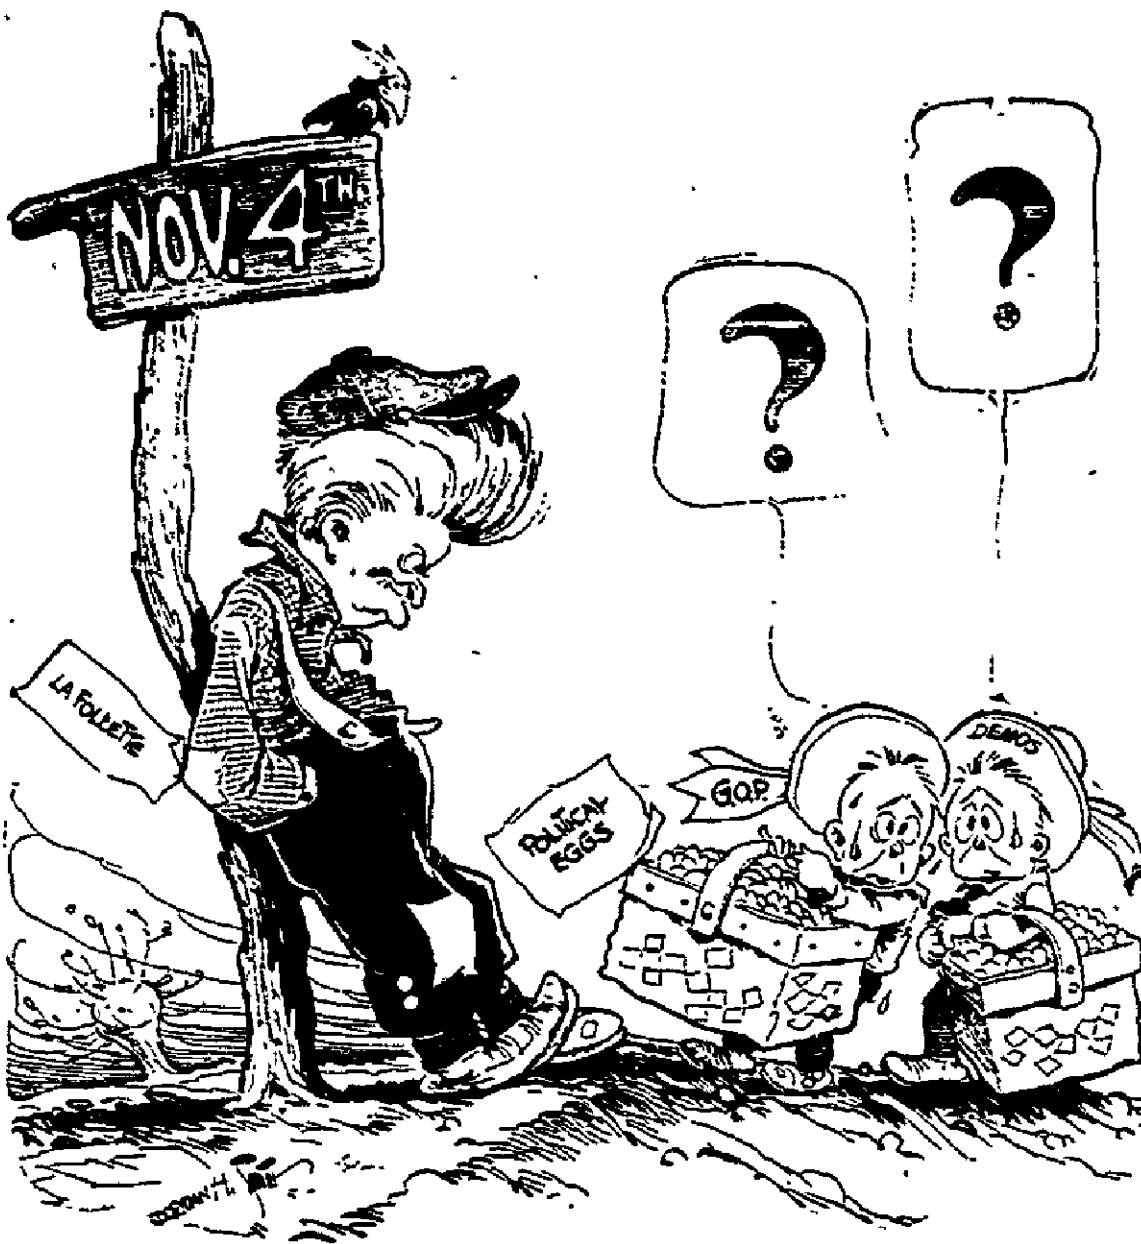

The average citizen is puzzled to understand why a man will run for the presidency instead of looking for a permanent job.

Contrary to popular conception, the percentage of "hicks" and yokels is probably much lighter in cities than in the country.

The vital question which now confronts the American people: Whether to go to the movies or to stay home and listen to the radio.

Correct the sentence: "Here's a picture of my fiancé, but it flatters her. She's not really as pretty as that."

Brief but important lessons in Finance, Markets, Stocks, Bonds and Investments

What grounds are there for the statement that "It takes a financial genius to make a real success in the investment business?"

Any one can find when a certain train will pull into a particular station by looking at the time table. If an accident occurs an expert must be consulted to find out whether or not the train will be on time.

Almost any man with average intelligence can find out whether or not a bond is entitled to a good rating. As in the case of the train, however, accidents are likely to change the rating, so he needs the services of a good bank or bond house to protect himself.

The successful investment manager borrows deeper into conditions than the average man does. He must not only be able to gauge the effect of accidents or changing business conditions on his securities, but he must anticipate them so as to avoid future losses. That faculty requires excellent foresight and is well termed "financial genius."

Alderette's Mother Dies At 89 at San Angelo

Mrs. Ramona Wurttemberg Alderette, 89, mother of Billie Alderette, of Port Arthur, died at her residence in San Angelo, Texas, last Thursday, and burial was made in the Catholic cemetery there Friday, word received by friends here today.

Born in Santa Fe, New Mexico, when New Mexico was a territory, Mrs. Alderette was married at the age of 15 years, during the Civil war, to a Mr. Wurttemberg, a federal soldier. He was captured near San Antonio by Confederate forces, and died a Confederate prisoner. The last year of the Civil war she married Captain Pablo Alderette, of the Confederate army, and after the Civil war the family moved to West Texas, settling on North Concho river in 1870.

Mrs. Alderette was of Spanish descent, her father, Don Sosa, having been an extensive land owner in Chihuahua, Mexico. Funeral services in San Angelo last Friday were conducted at 6 o'clock in the evening, from the Church of the Sacred Heart, with Rev. Father P. M. Barquet officiating.

Dr. Frank Crane's Editorial

OTHERING YOURSELF

John M. Siddall, who edited the American Magazine, was a success. He built up the circulation of his publication to an amazing figure, even in these days of big figures. And he did it by having and hanging on to one idea, even as a dog hangs on to a bone.

One idea is enough, if it is right. Some men have but one idea and that is wrong.

Siddall's idea was this: "Only one thing interests all human beings always, and that is the human being himself."

In other words, the most absorbing topic of interest in the world, overshadowing all others, is—

Me.

That this is true is proved by the admirable rule of William James: that truth is what will work.

This has worked. Siddall made money out of it for his paper.

The curious phrase of his, however, is that it is simply the golden rule. That rule, in substance, is "Other yourself" and succeed, "other" here being a verb, imperative mood.

And that rule, scientifically speaking, amounts to this: "Use your imagination."

So doing, you picture to yourself the mind and feelings of the other fellow, and in proportion as you do this you "get" him and hold and interest him.

We lose our grip on another because we fail to see rightly whether he is straying. Hence we cannot follow.

The salesman does not "sell" his customer because he cannot become his customer.

The parent and teacher fail with the child because they cannot "become as little children."

The speaker does not interest his audience because he cannot get out of his own mind over into theirs.

For the same kind of reason the lawyer does not convince the jury, the novelist his readers, and the newspaper its public.

We mistake when we suppose any truth is true in religion but not elsewhere.

Othering yourself is not only the way to get to heaven; it is the way to sell goods, to get elected, to make your girl love you, to get along with your neighbors, to manage workers and to keep peace in the family.

England and Ireland are in trouble because neither can other itself over to the point of view of the other.

Labor and capital clash when each indulges in thinking about itself and not trying to understand the other.

The most enlightened selfishness is unselfishness.

I wrote all this once in a fine article (I know it was fine, because I wrote it myself). And sent it to a magazine, and the editor didn't like it because, he said, it was "preaching."

It was. It is. But nothing in the world is so interesting to read as preaching, provided it is to me and not over me, or about the fate of Poland or the Armenian controversy, or something else I care nothing about.

Thus golden rule runs everywhere. Forget your health, and get well. Quit thinking of yourself as the only way to come to think well of yourself.

Attractive Porch Offers Means of Much Informal Entertaining in Summer

WITH the continuation of warm weather hostesses begin to plan for outdoor parties and what is more delightful than a porch party, luncheon or breakfast?

Porch parties are not only for the woman having plenty of ground around her house. Admittedly it is easier to ascertain outdoors if one has a good sized lawn and one's porch faces the east or south, but even with only a suburban piazza and a bare pretense of a lawn, one is not entirely deterred from outdoor entertainments for it is possible to make a small porch attractive, at least for the very hot months, if one has had sufficient forethought to plant vines of speedy growth early enough in the season so that they may afford shade from the sun and shelter for the passerby during June, July and August.

There is something "plicity" about outdoor affairs that put one in a holiday mood even if compelled to stay in or near the city during the hot weather.

And it is when entertaining that the porch really comes into its own. There seems no good reason why one should not enjoy her friends' society on the porch in summer fully as much as round the fire on cold winter days. Porch teas are very popular and easily prepared and served, while we all agree as to the delights of an evening porch party when the glare of the sun has gone down.

The tray service makes for the utmost simplicity in serving luncheon or breakfast on the porch. The tray containing the required cutlery and silver provided for each person may be removed at the conclusion of the meal and the succeeding hours may be spent in the agreeable utilization of bridges.

Summer breakfasts may be simplified and served out of doors in this way and a breakfast so eaten is surely more delightful than one partaken in a warm, stuffy room. Fruit and cereal may be combined using fresh fruit and dry flaked cereal. Or by way of variety, creamy cereal may be cooked in milk, topped with crisp cereal and served with an accompaniment of cream, top milk, berries or other fresh or stewed fruits, while rolls or toast give the necessary bulk to the meal with or without eggs prepared as desired.

For lunch a generous portion of salad with bread and butter sandwiches will be sure to find favor, but if something hot is considered desirable, then it should be a vegetable soup or chowder, or perhaps some kind of cream toast or omelette sandwich followed by a fresh or stewed fruit or simply pudding, with whatever accompaniment is desired.

Toast and sandwiches are always delectable, and of course, there is the old sandwich capable of many variations, with tongue or ham as the substantial ingredient or perhaps just with crisp bacon, lettuce and sliced tomatoes.

EXPECTING NO BY-LAW CHANGE

Believe Committee Rules Acceptable to Big 5.

That the by-laws and constitution adopted by the Sabine district committee of five from Port Arthur, Port Neches, Nederland, Orange and Beaumont at a meeting held at the latter city Monday afternoon will be accepted without any great change when the general body is asked to ratify it at the meeting to be held here July 10, was the opinion of C. The rules are drawn up with the district in mind and as far as possible from the city unit idea. A. L. Burge, chamber manager and author of the instrument states.

The by-laws adopted by the committee follow in full:

Art. 2. Purpose.—The purpose of this organization shall be to promote the civic, industrial, commercial and general welfare of the entire Sabine district.

Weak Nervous

"I was weak and nervous and run-down," writes Mrs. Edith Sellers, of 466 N. 21st St., East St. Louis, Ill. "I couldn't sleep nights, I was so restless. I felt tired and not in condition to do my work. I would have such pains in my stomach that I was afraid I would get down in bed. My mother came to see me and suggested that I use

CARDUI
The Woman's Tonic

I felt better after my first bottle. I had a better appetite. It seemed to strengthen and build me up. I am so glad to recommend Cardui for what it did for me. I haven't needed any medicine since I took Cardui, and I am feeling fine."

Nervousness, restlessness, sleeplessness—these symptoms so often are the result of a weak, run-down condition, and may develop more seriously if not treated in time.

Take Cardui. Sold everywhere.

Women Make King Solomon Look Like Village Rag Picker

Colors of Rainbow on Display, As Democratic Chieftains Gather in Gala Array for Opening

BY DOROTHY SHUMATE
United Press Convention

NEW YORK, June 23.—Petticoat politicians may still lack influence but they do make a tasty background. For the women at the democratic national convention in the first session assembled, formed a background that would have made King Solomon look like the village rag picker—despite all talk about his glory.

Purple and gold and red and green and blue and azure all had their place in the showoff where the latest modes were presented.

First there was Anna Case, Metropolitan opera star, who sang the Star Spangled Banner at the opening of the convention in a gown of cobweb lace of chiffon made in tiers and caught at the waste with a rope of tiny chain beads. The bottom of the tiers and the length of the waist and the deep were headed in with to match the girdle. White hose and black suede pumps and a large black shadow lace garden, the lace hanging over either side to the waist line, completed the most attractive costume seen at the convention.

Next came Mrs. J. Borden Harrison, head of the women's Meadcoo committee, charming in a dark blue handkerchief and cream palmetto cloche trimmed with black velvet. She wore brown alligator Deauville sandals trimmed with narrow black velvet. She carried a satchel of bright red patent leather.

Many Notables Present

Next came Mrs. Robert L. Owen, wife of the Oklahoma senator, with a blue and white foulard with Irish fringe and shoulder to hem line, a long Martin neckpiece and black Milan and satin smock.

After over on the other side of the hall sat Mrs. John W. Davis, cool and charming in a blue georgette over white and a large black hat turned up at the back with a straight across bow of black and white satin.

Mrs. C. E. Maboney, national committee woman from Texas, had a changeable and white outfit with white trim and embroidered in white. She wore beige hose with black patent slippers.

LETTER FROM SIDNEY CARLTON TO PAULA PERIER

MY DEAR PAULA:
 You will probably be surprised to see a letter from me. First, I want to tell you that I am coming out to California on another business trip and I want to know if you're going to stay in Hollywood all summer, and I should very much miss not seeing you.

Then I want to congratulate you on your latest picture, "Her Last Card." You are improving every picture you make, and I think that is the highest compliment I can pay you. In all the others that you have presented you seem to have been feeling your way, but in "Her Last Card" you have given much of yourself and your knowledge of life that has come from your tragic experiences—something that no director could have possibly brought out.

I wonder if you have reached the place along life's highway where you are able to get a good perspective on those experiences. If you have, you will know that which all of us sooner or later come to know, that all of

FILM SCULPTOR MAKES MODELS

Internationally Famous Actor at New Theatre

Lou Tellegen, the internationally famous actor whose popularity is about equally divided between the screen and the stage, possesses a reputation as a sculptor, which is nearly as generally known and recognized as it should be. Mr. Tellegen could readily qualify as a sculptor of worldwide fame if his ambitions were not of the histrionic class.

About twelve years ago Mr. Tellegen deserted the studios for the stage, joining Madame Bernhardt's organization. Later on he became her leading man, and as such almost instantly sprang into world-wide popularity. Even as a child, Mr. Tellegen showed a great natural ability as a sculptor. As he grew up he studied with various sculptors, always with such brilliant promise that he eventually went to Brussels, where he became the pupil of the celebrated Meunier, the foremost sculptor of his race.

After a meteoric career with Meunier, Mr. Tellegen went to Paris, where he soon became a warm friend of Rodin, with whom he studied for two years, living in Rodin's home at Meudon, a suburb of Paris, where the great master maintains his studio. While with Rodin, Mr. Tellegen attracted the attention of the foremost sculptors and art critics of Continental Europe.

At no time did Mr. Tellegen ever intend to devote his life to being a sculptor; a fact which proved the despair of those who most fully appreciated his marvellous abilities. When he abandoned the studios for the stage, his act was not unexpected, although every known pressure was brought to bear to have him change his mind.

Modeling has been his foremost diversion since Mr. Tellegen began his stage career, but the ability has never proven of direct value until he was cast to portray the stellar role in "Between Friends," which will be shown for four days beginning today at the Cameo theatre, in which he plays a successful sculptor. In addition to enacting the role, Mr. Tellegen worked on several sculptors during the actual filming of the picture, and every bit of modeling which was required in the production was the personal work of the actor who devoted a great deal of time to the clay work prior to making the picture.

Mr. Tellegen's marvellously expressive hands give a slight and rather indirect indication of what might be expected when working with clay. His fingers seem inspired and the stage and screen gained exactly what the world of sculptors lost when Lou Tellegen embarked on his spectacular histrionic career.

With Mr. Tellegen in "Between Friends" are Norman Kerry, Alice Calhoun and Anna Q. Nilsson. The picture was directed by J. Stuart Blackton.

HERO OF "BETWEEN FRIENDS"

LOU TELLEGEN

Rides His Way Into Movies on Kid-Car

Two years ago a four-year-old boy visited a theatre in Brooklyn, N. Y., with his parents. There was a contest for amateurs going on that night, the winner of it to be awarded a part in a motion picture. The boy's father suddenly got an inspiration. He rushed madly out of the theatre and returned in a short time with a kiddie car under one arm and a newspaper bundle under the other. The boy was entered. Sitting on the kiddie car, dressed as Tom Mix, with a revolver and everything, he was pushed onto the stage, landing in the middle of it when the car overturned. His impersonation of Mix was so good that he won the first prize in the contest—a part in "The Snow Bride" with Alice Brady.

The boy was Joseph Donohue, now 6 years old, the son of Dennis and Mary Donohue. He was born in Brooklyn, N. Y., and his father was for a time a rough rider with the famous William D. Cody Wild West show. Little Joseph has since appeared in many pictures, among them "Zaza," with Gloria Swanson; "The Go-Getter," "The Confidence Man," and D. W. Griffith's "America."

His chance for a big part in a picture was in "A $20 a Week," the Selznick-Dischinger production which comes to the Cameo theatre Sunday. The boy was personally selected by George Arliss for his part in this photodrama from a flock of fifty young screen aspirants. His work, along with the remarkable acting of Arliss, Edith Roberts and Taylor Holmes, in "A $20 a Week" is said to make this one of the big hits of the current season.

PASSENGER HITS AUTO, 1 KILLED

HOUSTON, June 24.—Mrs. J. R. Russell was fatally injured here last night when an automobile in which she was riding was struck by a north-bound Santa Fe passenger train.

Her husband, who was driving the car, received only minor injuries. The car was carried 60 feet from the crossing by the impact and was completely demolished.

Central Area Team Fattens On West Side Errors

Kaine Relieves Stoner in Box

Game Goes to Central Area By 11-7 Score

JOHNNY NOBLE'S West Side team failed to give Stoner and Kaine proper support yesterday afternoon on Lakeshore diamond, and Central Area added another game, 11-7, to its won column.

The Central team brought in a run in the first inning on three West Side errors, and then held without further scoring until the fifth inning, when they chased eight of their players around the bases for tallies. Kaine replaced Stoner in the early part of the fifth inning, after three runs had been scored on Stoner. Stoner allowed but four hits, but the untimely errors of his teammates, and a few ill-directed bases on balls on his part, could not satisfactorily cope with the scoring efforts of the Central leaders.

Kaine entered the box with the bases full, and was assisted in clearing the bases by Fred, who drove one of his offerings into deep center field, and scored the three runners, but was put out at third. He allowed retired the champs. Three walks and

Tennis Leaders Include White

Texas Among 8 Players Now Surviving

PHILADELPHIA, June 25.—Most of the favorites won comparatively easy victories yesterday in the third round of the national intercollegiate tennis tournament at the Merion Cricket club. At the completion of the round the east was represented by five men, the Texas coast by two and the University of Texas one. Of the eight survivors, A. W. Jones, Yale; W. W. Ingraham, Harvard; Fritz Mercer, Lehigh; F. L. Anderson and Jerry Lang, Columbia; L. M. White, Texas; Phil Bettens, California; and Wallace Scott, were seeded players.

Of five Texas intercollegiate tennis players only one managed to survive the second round. Both Sles and Brewster, the two Texas university seniors, who bunched their way here for the meet, were defeated in the first round. Brewster put up quite a struggle before succumbing to Harrington of Oklahoma university in straight sets, 6-4 and 8-6, while Sles gave Glaskis of Kansas quite a battle also, but lost 6-4 and 7-5. Fitch of Rice was unfortunate in the draw, meeting the formidable J. A. Wright of McGill university of Canada, and was also eliminated in the first round, 6-3, and 7-5.

Louis Thalhimer, a member of the double team which holds the national title, won in the first round by default from H. Marshall of Harvard, but in the second round lost to B. Pfaffman, Harvard's great foot ball hero, and drop-kicking expert. The Texas university entry gave the Harvard star a battle in the first set, but lost 7-5, after which he seemed to wilt and was defeated by a lone score in the second set.

Lewis White, the other member of the championship doubles team from Texas university won from M. Baker, a formidable entry from Williams college in the first round, 6-4 and 0-4, and then in the second round eliminated A. Sheridan of Yale with less effort. The score being 0-2 and 6-0.

Olympic Team Picked By Coach on Ship

AROUND S. S. AMERICA, June 25.—Coach Lawson Robertson made his Olympic selections Sunday, and with few exceptions they followed the order of the finish in the final trials at Cambridge. The list for the 23 track and field events may be changed in some instances, especially if the Olympic officials grant the American request for more time in naming our entries. Frank Hussey, Brooklyn schoolboy, has been left out of the sprint and Loren Marchion substituted for him.

Brumley Shows Good Stuff In Winning From Abe Caplan

TOE HOLD WINS FROM VISITOR

Caplan Takes Second Fall From Local Man

Abe Caplan, visiting wrestler, found something unexpectedly tough last night on the Port Arthur Athletic club mat when Leo Brumley of Port Arthur took two falls out of three from him. Both men did good work, but the mugginess of the weather told on both wrestlers, particularly Caplan. Brumley took the first fall in 15 minutes with a seat-toehold, while Caplan came back strong with a coming Japanese armlock on Brumley's midsection. The last fall went to Brumley in 15 minutes, when he slipped one of his powerful toe-holds on the visitor.

Brumley Applauded
The crowd, which was only medium-sized, gave Brumley liberal encouragement, and the local man responded right well. Caplan was unable to stand punishment whenever Brumley grabbed him by one of his toes, while Brumley squeezed out of wracking holds repeatedly when it seemed certain that he would be forced to quit. Once the crowd was certain, with each wrestler having one fall, that Brumley's shoulders had been forced to the mat, but after a few breathless moments, Brumley came out of it.

Caplan tried hard to work his way out of the last fall, hesitated a moment before patting the mat, but the twisted face told the pain he was undergoing when he finally slammed his hand to the mat.

It was announced during the match that Red Lyons of Beaumont had issued a challenge to the winner of the match, being unable to be on hand in person.

CONWAY PLANS CLASS FOR 40

Encouragement Is Received For Gym Class

Prospects for a physical training class in Port Arthur are rather bright, in the opinion of E. W. Conway, swimming instructor at the Plaza natatorium, who is figuring on opening up such a class here soon if he can stir up enough interest.

"I have talked it about a little, and received encouragement everywhere," says Conway. Should the class be opened, it would last for three months and would contain about 40 members.

No site or equipment has yet been secured. However, once all preparations are wound up, the class is assured here for two or three years in order to make the return on the initial outlay.

BROWNS ANNEX TWO FROM SLIDING TIGERS

ST. LOUIS, June 25.—With George Sisler back on first base, the St. Louis Browns got the jump on the Detroit Tigers, taking both games of the double header opening the series here today. The scores were 7-5, 5-1. The defeats dropped Cobb's men from first to third place in the American league. Jacobson got two homers.

Sisler took the field amid a great ovation from the fans. He was suspended Sunday with two other Brown players as the result of a brief argument with Umpire Holmes over balls and strikes, decisions in which a pop bottle shower was directed at the umpire.

Brittle Hands Put Crack Fighters In Steady Uneasiness

A fighter with brittle hands rarely ever reaches the top. Ad Stone, fighting marine, one of the best of the light heavyweights, is now laid up with bad hands.

So is Paul Berlenbach, rugged middleweight, whose knockout captions provided a nine-day sensation in metropolitan rings.

Another young star who has weak hitting weapons is Sammy Mandell of Chicago, a lightweight, whose boxing cleverness is not equaled by any performer in the game.

It will be a tough blow to the game if bad hands keep Stone, Berlenbach and Mandell out of the fancy pictures.

LAKE CHARLES GAME NOW OFF

Park Condemned, Club Hears From Louisiana

The proposed trip of the Port Arthur Athletic club's baseball team to Lake Charles Sunday has been called off because the park at Lake Charles has been condemned, according to word received yesterday from the Louisiana manager.

Lake Charles offered to play here Sunday or at Lake Charles on July 3, by which time the park would be ready for use, but both are impracticable for the local management. The Port Arthur Elks play at Sulphur, La., Sunday.

ST. LOUIS, June 25.—George L. Motorboat and Aquaplane Races Among Features Of Big July 4th Celebration

Three motorboat races and two aquaplane races are among the features of the Fourth of July celebration to be held at the Pleasure Pier under city auspices, planned to be the biggest ever according to C. E. Dunagan, who is in charge of arrangements. The best boats in southwestern Texas and southwestern Louisiana will be on hand for the races here. Twenty boats have so far been entered in the competition, of which eight are from Port Arthur, the others hailing from Beaumont, Orange, Lake Charles and other nearby towns.

A fine trophy will be given in one of the motorboat races, while in the two aquaplane races there will be prizes ranging from $25 down to $5 for the various places. Races will be run over a three-mile triangular course to be laid out in front of the pleasure pier where the crowds will be able to watch. Each boat will be required to enter this course seven times. Boats entered in the race will be able to make 30 miles an hour. Boats are now being measured for displacement.

Aquaplane races will also be held directly in front of the pleasure pier. To addition there will be swimming and running races for children, with prizes in the various classifications. Dancing from early afternoon to late night will be the order. Concessions will be running at full blast. Fireworks will be displayed at 7:30.

Quimet, Stronger, Set for Triumph?

Is this to be Francis Quimet's come-back year? Somehow or other the golf world seems to feel that the popular Boston player is on the brink of a triumphant return. This feeling is based on the assumption that he is "due," plus the consideration that he played beautifully all last season.

Quimet came with a tumultuous rush as a youngster, winning the open championship and the national amateur in successive years, 1913 and 1914. Since then he hasn't basked once in the glare of championship rays, though he did go to the finals in 1920 against Chick Evans at the Engineers' course.

Quimet used to be handicapped by physical frailties but in recent months he has gained much in ruggedness and is now much better equipped to grapple with the ordeal of a long, testing tournament.

Recall the day Quimet was beaten off by Rudy Knepper in the national amateur at Brookline two years ago. His face was drawn, weary arms aching at his side and he walked with a halting step. His energy had left him and he was

ADVENTURES OF THE TWINS

By OLIVE ROBERTS BARTON

"Because," said the little garden fairy, "It's raining."

"Rain, rain, go away, Come again some other day, Little Johnny wants to play," sang Johnny Jump Up, the little garden fairy, on the Twins' window sill, looking all funny and forlorn under his umbrella, "It's raining. There's no moon or anything, and the magic garden is as wet as anything. The flowers are soaked and all of my playmates are in their little violet houses sound asleep and—"

"Goodness alive!" cried the little mouse flying down from his tree to the window sill beside Johnny. "I heard your whole conversation, and the way people fuss about a little bit of rain is the limit."

"Don't you mind it?" cried Johnny Jump Up in surprise.

"Humph! If we birds minded every little shower that came along we might just as well dry up and blow away," snuffed the little mouse. "Of course I don't mind it."

"Hooray!" cried Johnny, turning a somersault right where he was, umbrella and all. "Then we can take our trip tonight after all, can't we?"

"Yes, certainly, if you have the tickets," said the little mouse. "I'll take you to Italy."

"I'll get them," said Johnny, and away he went.

He was back before you could say Jack Robinson, and all three got on the little bird's back, and holding the umbrella over them, they flew happily away.

The rain soon stopped and, with a whisk and a whizz, they were flying over Italy, a country that looked like a huge boat sticking out into the ocean. By this time it was daylight and they could see everything.

"Oh, look at the mountain with smoke coming out of the top," cried Nick.

"That is called a volcano. Every once in a while it boils over, and melted rock pours out," explained Johnny Jump Up. "It's called Mount Vesuvius."

"I should not like to live near it," said Nancy.

"Oh, it doesn't do that very often," said Johnny. "And the rest of the country is so pretty it more than makes up for it. That fine city there is Naples. See how blue the ocean looks near it."

Next day they came to a beautiful lake with old gardens around it.

"Italian gardens are the most wonderful in the whole world," said Johnny Jump Up.

"Oh, look," said Nick, as the titmouse flew on, "there is a city with streets of water. The people have boats instead of automobiles."

"That is Venice," said Johnny Jump Up, who seemed to know everything. "The houses are built on tiny islands right in the sea."

"Many fine painters lived here once," he went on.

"I think that if I lived in Italy, I would paint, too," said Nancy. "There are so many lovely things to paint."

"I never thought of that," said Johnny Jump Up.

"Suppose you think of going home now," said the little mouse. "Your tickets were good for both ways and I'm tired."

CHILD'S STORY OF THE HUMAN RACE

By Uncle RAY

William Makes a New Forest.

Perhaps you remember Lanfranc, the abbot who helped so much to make better Norman schools. He was a friend of William the Conqueror.

When William became king of England, he made Lanfranc a high officer of the church. Lanfranc was now called the Archbishop of Canterbury. He had power to decide who should be bishops and abbots in England.

In his new office, Lanfranc seems to have done his best to make the monks and priests live up to the rules of the church.

The new archbishop put Normans in the places of many English bishops and abbots. Most of the new church officers were friendly to the English priests and monks but a few of them were cruel. One Norman abbot at Glastonbury asked for a change in the style of church music. The English refused and the abbot ordered them to be shot down by Norman archers.

King William was a very selfish man. He wanted to gain power and enjoy himself, no matter how much he hurt other people in doing so. One day he decided that his hunting grounds were not large enough. Nearby was a great deal of land he thought he could use. The soil was not very rich, but people were living in quite a number of spots. Here and there was a tiny village.

"Drive the people off of that land," William ordered. Houses were burned and many families were made homeless. Trees and shrubs grew up.

The place was called the New Forest. By and by, deer grazed where people had once lived. William was glad, because this gave him a better chance to hunt.

The New Forest, however, was not to have lasting pleasure to the selfish king. One of his men was killed there and also a grandson. It is believed they were slain in revenge by men who had once been driven away.

This picture shows a Norman archer. It is copied after a figure on the Bayeux tapestry, a strip of cloth with pictures in fancywork. This strip is more than 200 feet long. It was embroidered soon after William conquered England.

The "missing link" bowed to the audience and then played a piece on its mouth organ. Then with a hop and a jump it disappeared in the dressing room to make way for the next exhibit in the side show.
